DID YOU KNOW?

Some of us may think Mother's Day is a hallmark moment, the history of Mother's Day in the US, was influenced by 3 women. Ann Reeves Jarvis, Julia Ward Howe and Anna Jarvis.

Ann Reeves Jarvis was a young Appalachian homemaker who taught Sunday school lessons. She also was a lifelong activist who, in the mid-1800s, had organized "Mothers' Day Work Clubs" in West Virginia to combat unsanitary living conditions and teach young mothers how to safely care for their children. During the Civil War, Ann Jarvis had also organized women's brigades, encouraging women to help without regard for which side their men had chosen. After the war, she proposed a Mothers' Friendship Day to promote peace between former Union and Confederate families.

Julia Ward Howe volunteered during the Civil War, for the U.S. Sanitary Commission, helping them to provide hygienic environments for hospitals and ensure sanitary conditions during the care of sick and wounded soldiers. In 1861, she wrote the famous Civil War anthem, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," which was first published in February 1862.

After Ann Reeves Jarvis' death, her daughter Anna Jarvis wished to memorialize her mother's life and started campaigning for a national day. In May of 1907, Anna memorialized her mother's lifelong activism with a memorial service held at the Methodist Church in Grafton, West Virginia, and every year after a Mother's Day service was held at that same church to acknowledge all mothers. Thus was born the idea that the second Sunday in May be set aside to honor every mother, whether living or deceased.

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson signed a bill designating the second Sunday in May as a legal holiday to be called "Mother's Day"

So let's give thanks to God for having the best mother there is, our own!
